Nate Sheets graduated from the University of Nebraska in 2004 with a Master of Engineering in Architectural Engineering. Morrissey Engineering gave Nate an opportunity as a college intern in 2002 which developed into full time employment since graduation. Morrissey Engineering specializes in delivering high performance solutions that achieve optimal energy efficiency for building mechanical, electrical, lighting and technology systems. His role as a Mechanical Project Manager includes interacting with Clients, designing mechanical systems and mentoring several junior engineers.

Nate is originally from Fremont so has been a Nebraska Resident his entire life. Along with his wife Jaimee, he is blessed with two very active boys, Preston (7) and Alex (5). Family time is spent camping and at youth activities (sports practices, music lessons, etc.). When time allows, Nate enjoys playing basketball, playing golf and home improvement projects.
